Mrs. Jenkins' Corner

A child's educational experience plays a huge role in what they become in life. Some people's perspectives are that the schools are stuck in a time when attention and silence were the benchmarks of a good student. The administrators and teachers at South Hancock Elementary would like to inform our community that we are encouraging a classroom where students are engaged, working in collaborative groups, and talking about their learning. The time where students are expected to sit in rows and be quiet has ended. Our hopes are that the students are coming home sharing great exciting things that they are learning in the classroom.

Our focus will continue to be on academic excellence because our children deserve it!
